REVALUATION

Of Real Estate for the Entire State of West Virginia.

BEING SECURED BY THIS PAPER

The First Installment of Figures Given This Morning—Of Eleven Counties Reporting, Four Show Decreases, and Seven Have Increased Valuations—A Tremendous Increase Reported From Clay County.

The following circular letter which the Intelligencer sent to the county clerks of the fifty-five counties of the state of West Virginia last Saturday, explains the scope and object of the tabulation, the first installment of which appears in another column of this page:

WHEELING, Jan. 20, 1900.

To the County Clerk:—Dear Sir:—Owing to the general interest in the decennial revaluation of real estate in our state for taxation, the Intelligencer desires to publish a summary of the figures for the entire state, showing revaluation for buildings and buildings and ground and the assessment of the year 1899 for buildings and buildings and ground. Kindly fill the blanks on the reply postal card and mail to us as soon as possible. By doing this you will place us under obligations. Hoping to hear from you soon, we remain, Respectfully,

THE INTELLIGENCER.

The tabulation shows:

The revaluation for 1900 on buildings and buildings and ground.

The assessment for 1899 on buildings and buildings and ground.

The changes, increase or decrease, and the percentage of increase or decrease.

The county clerks are replying to the request with commendable punctuality, the Intelligencer being able to give the figures for eleven counties this morning. Of these, Brooke, Hampshire, Morgan and Greenbrier show decreases in the reassessment, while Taylor, Harrison, Ohio, Jackson, Barbour, Berkeley and Clay show increases. The large-est increase is reported from Little Clay, where buildings and ground have advanced from $688,460 to $1,060,790, the percentage of increase being 54 per cent, beside which Ohio's increase of 23 per cent looks rather modest, but on the whole the increases are small, averaging about 10 or 12 per cent.

The assessment on buildings alone in Clay is only $25,355, which seems ridiculously small. Here in Wheeling there are probably ten or more buildings each assessed higher than all the buildings in Clay county.

The tabulation will appear from day to day as the other counties report, and in the course of two or three weeks the entire state will have reported. In some counties the revaluations have not yet been reported to the county clerks, notably in Marshall, where one of the assessors has been delayed by sickness.

When all the counties have reported it will be seen whether the balance of the state lines up with increases averaging that in this county. If they do not, then it would seem to be the duty of the state board of equalization and appeals to order a straight-out cut on the entire county.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Phroso," a dramatization of Anthony Hope's famous book, with Charles Frohman's company, comes to the Opera House for one night, Saturday, January 27th. So many clever novels are a disappointment in their dramatization, probably because the interest has centered in development of character rather than incident. But Hope's writings have enough of daring exploits, thrilling episodes and dash and strength in every way to insure an intensely interesting production when staged. Few plays are so rapid and terse in their movement, or offer a larger scope for splendid acting, than "Phroso," for it has all of the elements in it for popularity. It has been characterized as tending toward the melodramatic and in any close following of the story it could hardly do otherwise. With Odette Tyler in the title role it is one of the great hits of the season and its production here cannot fall short of success. Miss Tyler will be remembered as one of the drawing cards in "Secret Service," where she was wonderfully charming in one of the most difficult of impersonations, that of Caroline Milford. Reserved seat sale opens Friday morning at the Opera House box office.

"Have You Seen Smith?"

"Have You Seen Smith," the new farce which Charles Barton produces in an elaborate manner this season, is one of the best and cleverest American comedies. It is an extravagant travesty on married life, with a plot which admits of startling and impossible events that put Munchausen and Guilever in the shade and rival the doings of Aladdin and his wonderful lamp. Of course it is funny, and hilariously, ridiculously so. Strong specialties, spectacular effects and all the adjuncts of a great attraction attend the production. It will be seen at the Grand Opera House Thursday, Friday and Saturday and Saturday matinee.

"The Great Train Robbery."

There was another crowded house at the Grand last night, and the reception accorded "The Great Train Robbery," on Monday evening, was duplicated. The thrilling scenes showing the hold-up of the train, and the battle between outlaws and regulars, were applauded to the echo. The big bear and the funny Yankee and funnier old soldier, contributed most of the comedy. The specialties were excellent. "The Great Train Robbery" will close its engagement with matinee and night performances to-day.

KENTUCKY CONTESTS.

McKinney (Dem.), of Trigg County, Seated—Stenographer Testifies in Louisville Muddle—One Man Testified That Presence of Militia in Louisville Was a Benefit in Preserving the Peace.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 23.—The gubernatorial contest committee to-day voted to extend the time for taking evidence, giving each side two more days for that purpose.

The house to-day decided the case of McKinney, Democrat, Democratic contestant against Taylor, the Republican contestant, of Trigg county, in favor of McKinney. Taylor was declared ineligible because of holding the position of postmaster at the time of his election.

Clarence Walker, of Louisville, official stenographer of the court in Louisville, over which Judge Toney presides, was the first witness introduced by the Republicans. He declared that Judge Toney was in Mr. Walker's office in Louisville a short time after the issuance of the injunction, declaring that the Brown-Johnson inspectors should be admitted to the polls. When Attorney Kohn and Phelps, acting for the Democratic party, came in and asked to be heard on the injunction, Judge Toney, the witness said, told them to issue notice of a motion to dissolve the writ and he would hear it later. According to the statements of the witness, the judge told the attorneys it would be unjust to the Democratic party if they did not take steps to have the injunction dissolved.

They decided to do so, and according to Walker, seemed to prefer to have him over-rule their motion so that they could take it to the court of appeals.

Both attorneys Phelps and Kohn are engaged in the present contest and the latter conducted the cross examination, but the witness stuck closely to his original statement.

Donald McDonald, of Louisville, was the innocent cause of some pointed debate between ex-Congressman Hendricks, who is one of the Democratic counsel, and Colonel Breckinridge. The witness insisted upon giving his opinion as well as his knowledge of facts, and Mr. Hendricks objected. Colonel Breckinridge declared that the Democratic counsel had been asking for opinions ever since the contest began, and the gentlemen flatly contradicted each other several times. John Huhlin, a prominent business man of Louisville, testified regarding the conduct of the election in that city, giving his opinion that the presence of the militia was a benefit in preserving peace.

HUMILIATION AND PRAYER.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 23.—The day of "humiliation and prayer" in Kentucky, set apart last Sunday by the ministers of several of the local churches, was observed to-day. Services were held at the individual churches forenoon and afternoon, and a general meeting of the ministers and public was held to-night.

JUDGE MORTON

Says Democratic Contestants Fail to Support Their Right, and the Course the Democracy Are Pursuing Will Plunge the Party in "A Gulf of Disaster, if Not of Dishonor."

LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 23.—Judge J. R. Morton, ex-circuit judge and one of the leading supporters of Goebel in central Kentucky, will come out tomorrow in a card taking an advanced position on the situation at Frankfort. He says he has carefully examined the evidence of the contestants for seats of the Republicans and concluded that "the evidence offered by the contestants altogether fails to support the right or claim of contestants to the offices they seek. Their claim under evidence in my judgment, is without foundation in law or in morals."

He further says the course the Democrats are pursuing will plunge the party in "a gulf of disaster if not of dishonor."

In opening the communication, he says the situation at Frankfort at this time, "is not unlike that which prevailed during the memorable winter of 1876-7 and of the awful days immediately preceding the civil war."

PLANS ADOPTED

For Administration Building at State Reform School.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer. CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 23.—The board of directors of the West Virginia state Reform School, at Pruntytown, met here in special session this afternoon, and accepted the plans and specifications of Architect Harrison Albright, of Charleston, for a large new three-story brick administration building, to be erected on the reform school grounds, at a cost of $30,000 or $40,000. The board will meet at Pruntytown, February 15, to receive and open bids and award the contract for the building.

The national council of Jewish Women will hold its second triennial convention in Cleveland, Ohio, commencing March 2.

NOW THEY'RE OFF.

Colonel O'Brien and Mr. Howard Leave for Charleston To-day

TO PUSH CLAIMS OF WHEELING

As the Most Suitable Place for Holding the Democratic State Nominating Convention—Mr. Waterhouse Unable to Go Because of Threatened Illness—Wheeling's Interests Are in Excellent Hands.

This morning, Colonel Thomas O'Brien and Hon. John A. Howard leave for the state capital on a very important mission, a mission in the result of which all Wheeling is interested. They go, as members of the chamber of commerce committee, to present Wheeling's claims as the most available and only entirely suitable town in which to hold the Democratic state nominating convention next summer.

The convention question comes up at the meeting of the state central committee, to be held Thursday afternoon, at the Ruffner, in Charleston. Wheeling will have as opponents both Huntington and Parkersburg, and possibly other towns. Outside of Wheeling there is no town in the state that has a permanent hall large enough for the holding of a state convention, and past experiences of both parties with wigwags, skating rinks and other crude contrivances will doubtless handicap Huntington, Parkersburg and all other towns opposing Wheeling. In the Wheeling Park Casino, this city has the ideal convention hall, easy of access from the city, but without the dirt and noise of the city. The Democrats know all this, for their convention of '96 was held in this very building, and the people of Wheeling are willing and anxious to eclipse even their '96 record for showing West Virginia Democrats a good time. The Intelligencer is sorry it cannot join with a large section of Wheeling and Ohio county in the wish that the 1900 convention in Wheeling may name a winning ticket.

In Messrs. O'Brien and Howard the city's interests are in excellent hands, and the Intelligencer confidently anticipates that the telegram which Mr. Howard has promised to send to-morrow evening immediately after the state central committee's meeting, will convey the very pleasing information that Wheeling has won out.

The chairman of the convention committee, Mr. John Waterhouse, is unable to go with his colleagues, as he is confined to his home on South Chapline street, threatened with typhoid fever. His many friends will join in the hope that his indisposition will not become so serious.

WALTER CRAWFORD

Confessed Complicity in Crime. Charging the Shooting to His Brother.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer. HINTON, W. Va., Jan. 23.—William and Walter Crawford, who were recently indicted for the attempted assassination of Charles Workman, on the night of September 27th last, were placed under arrest and brought here to-night. Soon after being taken into custody Walter made a full confession of the crime, stating that William had employed him to commit the deed, and they had gone together to the lumber yard of the William James Sons' Company, where Workman was employed as night watchman, and as he (Walter) hesitated to shoot when Workman appeared carrying his torch, William grabbed the gun from him and fired, inflicting upon Workman what was supposed to be a mortal wound. Walter also states that the motive for William's attempted murder of Workman was that William and Workman were jointly indicted in Monroe county for forgery, and that Workman had signified his intention of turning state's evidence. The community is very much aroused, and the gully parties will receive the extreme penalty of the law.

FAIRMONT AND GRAFTON

Gas Company Has Been Sold for $216,000.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer. MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 23.—J. W. Rowland, of Franklin, Pa., J. J. Gosser and T. B. Gregory, of Embleton, Pa., and E. M. Grant, of Morgantown, operating as the Fairmont and Grafton Gas Company, to-day sold their wells and their rights and franchises in Fairmont and Grafton to A. L. Lowrie and Joseph Craig, of Pittsburgh, Pa., for $216,000. Possession is given at once.

CABINET MEETING

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 23.—The cabinet at its regular meeting to-day again discussed at length the Porto Rican situation. The arrival here of two committees of representative business men of the island, and the large and increasing number of letters which are being received by the President, have tended to confirm the administra-

The annual concert and ball of the Opera House orchestra and band was a function that attracted a large and brilliant assemblage to Arion hall last night. The personnel of the gathering was a distinct compliment of the popularity of this most excellent musical organization and deserved appreciation was shown at the close of each concert number. Numerically, the attendance was larger than last year's affair, and in other respects the 1900 concert and ball eclipsed its predecessors.

The concert, which embraced six numbers, was given under the direction of Prof. E. W. Spell. The programme, as published in the Intelligencer, was carried out in detail, every number being liberally applauded. Mr. W. H. Paul scored a hit with his xylophone solo and was compelled to respond to an encore. Supper was served after the concert, after which followed the ball. The dance committee was composed of Messrs. Fred Schwerdtfeger, Will Gutman and Edward Vass. Mr. W. T. Sadler was floor manager.

At a meeting of enthusiastic Scotchmen at the Hotel Windsor last night, the Thistle Society of Wheeling was organized. To quote from one of the members, the society will fill a long felt want. Natives of old Albion have the Sons of St. George; of old Erin, the Ancient Order of Hibernians; but until last night the sons of Auld Scotia have been without organization in this city. The titular designation is quite appropriate, since the thistle is the emblem of Scotland.

The officers elected are as follows:
President—G. W. Greig.
Vice President—D. W. Fyfe.
Secretary—J. L. Diamond.
Treasurer—John McFadden.
Directors—Charles P. Porter, F. P. McNeil, A. H. Rawley and Messrs. Greig, Fyfe, Diamond and McFadden.

There were several speeches previous to definite action, and the discussion chiefly centered on the name of the society, some advocating the Sons of Scotland, and others, St. Andrew's Society, but the Thistle won out. Under the society's auspices will be given a celebration at the Windsor to-morrow evening, and its success is assured. Over 100 tickets have been sold. Features of the interesting programme prepared will be the music by Piper McKay and dances by Miss Maggie Maltland, a bonny Scotch lassie, who recently came to Wheeling from Scotland. The banquet will be an elaborate affair, to be followed by addresses by prominent speakers.

Scotchmen and descendants of Scotchmen over sixteen years of age, of either sex, are eligible to membership in the Thistle Society, and it is expected that the membership will receive numerous accessions.

Last night at Mt. de Chantal, the first of the series of lectures by Miss Schmidt on art subjects, was delivered, and the large and representative audience thoroughly enjoyed the discourse on "Paris." To-night's topic is "Italy and Italian Art," a very promising subject, for Italy and Italians have always occupied the most prominent position in painting and sculpture. The lecture scheduled for Thursday evening has been postponed until Friday evening.

To-night, at the Carroll Club auditorium, under the auspices of the Daughters of the Revolution, and for the benefit of their Valley Forge fund, Dr. Henry G. Hanchett will give a piano-forte lecture recital, and a large and brilliant audience is assured. An analytical recital consists of a programme of piano-forte selections, interspersed where practicable with vocal or other numbers rendered by assisting artists, and accompanied by a few words introducing each important work and giving the audience a clue by which listening may be more intelligently directed to the special structural merits or peculiarities of the work. The analyses are brief attempts to indicate to persons of ordinary attainments and culture the points of special interest in the composition about to be played, giving the reasons for the treatment accorded the ideas by the composer or the interpreter, and putting it within the power of the audience to justly estimate the position and worth of the selection.

A Continuance Probable.

Messrs. Gregg and P. P. Lewis, attorneys for Quincy Cramblett, filed the affidavit of Dr. Hanna, a physician, of Adams, who made an examination of Mrs. Cramblett, with the court of Steubenville, yesterday, but the public will not learn its exact contents, due to the suppression by the court. The substance of the affidavit is said to be that the woman is temporarily insane, but that in time she will recover and be able to testify. The general impression now seems to be that there will be a continuance.

Inspectors at Work.

Inspectors Clark and Thomas left yesterday afternoon for Zanesville, where they make the annual inspection of the steamer Valley Gem, which plies in the daily Zanesville-McConnellsville trade on the Muskingum.

Assistant Surveyor of Customs C. A. Reed goes to Marietta, to-day, where he will make the official measurements of the excursion steamer Francis J. Torrence, now building at the Knox yards for the Monongahela & Ohio River Transportation Company, of Pittsburgh. She is a double decker excursion boat, the largest on western waters, and will be used for excursions out of Pittsburgh.

Wheeling Stands Third.

Surveyor of Customs Charles H. Senesey has received the 1899 reports on business transacted at the several ports of registry on western waters, and it is shown that Wheeling ranks third in importance. Under the head of documents issued to vessels, the several ports reported as follows: St. Louis, 254; Pittsburgh, 171; Wheeling, 159; Memphis, 139; Cincinnati, 118; Louisville, 61.

Pittsburgh River News.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 23.—Coal that has been in the harbor for months is being shipped. The towboats were unable to take all of the coal to Cincinnati and Louisville on the first run, but none of the old craft will remain in port after this rise, and much coal that is being loaded will also be shipped. There is excellent boating water from Pittsburgh to New Orleans.

The following boats departed: Ed. Roberts, 8 coalboats, 5 barges; Maggie, 4 coalboats; B. D. Wood, 6 boats; Tornado, 6 boats; John Cook, 7 boats, 5 barges; Hornet No. 2, 8 boats, 2 barges. This makes a shipment of thirty-eight boats and twelve barges. Other boats that will get out are the Charles Brown, Volunteer and Charlie Clark. Many boats on their way up stream will be able to arrive in time to take advantage of the high water. There is activity in the pools and much barge coal is being loaded. This is destined for the Cincinnati and Louisville trade.

Large delegations of rivermen are concentrating in Washington to urge the passage of a river and harbor bill, a very important measure to rivermen. Congressman John Daisell has introduced a bill, authorizing that the sills of the lock at Davis Island dam and those of the new locks now in course of construction on the Ohio be lowered to a depth of nine feet at a full pool stage. Unless this is done the lock at Davis Island dam will be useless when dam No. 2 is completed, for with that dam up barges drawing over six feet of water could not be locked. In speaking of a river and harbor bill Captain Henderson said: "If no bill is passed the river will suffer for the want of money to carry on the snagboat service and other matters pertaining to the safety of river craft."
